Safe(r) Ways to Undermine Fascist Organizing

You don't have to be in the streets to make an impact. Fascism thrives on silence and acceptance, so every action that disrupts its spread—even the smallest—matters. Whether you're tracking their movements, de-platforming them, or making sure your neighbors don't fall for their lies, you're weakening their grip.

The key? Stay smart, stay aware, and stay safe. You are more powerful when you protect yourself and choose your battles wisely. Here's how to fight fascism without putting yourself directly in harm's way:

12. Passive Monitoring & Intelligence Gathering (Minimal risk, remote work)

- ☐ Stay anonymous while tracking local fascist groups. Use pseudonyms, VPNs, and encrypted apps.
- ☐ Archive their propaganda (screenshots, saved web pages, video recordings) without engaging.
- ☐ Report concerning activity to trusted local activists, journalists, or watchdog organizations.
- ☐ Know what's going on in your town or community.

13. Discreetly Undermining Their Platforms (Low risk, indirect action)

- ☐ Quietly report their social media accounts for hate speech, disinformation, or violence.
- ☐ Flag their businesses, fundraising pages, or payment processors to get them shut down.
- ☐ Use anonymous tip lines to inform community spaces (libraries, venues, churches) about their presence.

14. Flooding the Zone With Better Information (Medium risk, but still relatively safe)

- ☐ Drown out their propaganda with anti-fascist messaging (flyers, stickers, yard signs).

- ☐ Educate your community on fascist dog whistles so they can't recruit unnoticed.
- ☐ Encourage local institutions (schools, churches, clubs) to take a public stand against fascism.

15. Non-Confrontational Protest & Counter-Organizing (Still safe, but be aware of surroundings)

- ☐ Attend public, legal demonstrations in large numbers where there's safety in visibility.
- ☐ Organize silent protests or symbolic actions (e.g., black armbands, coordinated walkouts).
- ☐ Support progressive businesses and venues so they don't depend on fascist money.

The Long Game: Building Power That Lasts

Fascism won't collapse overnight, and resistance isn't just about fighting today—it's about outlasting, outmaneuvering, and ultimately defeating it for good. That means building strong communities, creating independent networks, and preparing for the long fight ahead.

This isn't just survival—it's laying the groundwork for a future where fascism can't take hold again. Here's how we stay in the fight for the long haul.

16. Refuse to Cooperate with the Fascist State (Now & Always)

- ☐ Do not snitch. Do not comply. Protect your people.
- ☐ Find alternatives to relying on the police, courts, and government services.

17. Support Activists & Political Prisoners (Ongoing)

- ☐ Donate to bail and legal defense funds. (You know who)
- ☐ Write letters to political prisoners—morale matters.

18. Prepare for Prolonged Resistance (Long-term survival)

- ☐ Develop alternative power structures at the local level.
- ☐ Build clandestine communication networks in case of mass internet censorship.
- ☐ Train for self-sufficiency—food production, medical care, alternative energy.

The Final Word: We Will Not Be Defeated

This is no longer about just “staying informed.” This is about staying alive and winning. Fascists are banking on fear and isolation—they think we’ll just give up. But they forget: we’ve been fighting them since the beginning of this country, and we know how to survive oppression.

It starts small. Lock down your security. Find your people. Build power where you live. No one is coming to save us—but that’s fine. We’ll save ourselves.

We are not alone. We are not powerless. And we are not done fighting.
